

Teacher quality matters, but is not sufficient

A | Controlled teacher-state intervention

Changing the trained teacher state reverses the transfer sign.

B | Global teacher quality is insufficient

A globally weaker teacher can still improve the student.

Teacher state and predictive quality strongly modulate transfer, but held-out teacher likelihood alone does not determine distillability.